Prospects Bright, Governor Reports to State Industry

Illinois Executive is Given Assurance of Defense Contracts

Chicago, Nov. 26—(AP)—Gov. Dwight H. Green, who returned today from a conference with defense officials in Washington, said the prospects were bright for Illinois business men receiving "at least a proportionate share" of defense orders.

Smiling and obviously pleased with the results of his mission, the governor said that defense officials had shown "cooperative spirit" and that officers of the Illinois Defense Council intended to "follow up on these promises".

Defense officials recognize that Illinois has production facilities not offered by every other state", the governor said. "It's only a matter of coordinating our activities with theirs to get our fair share of the defense business".

The governor urged that small business men in Illinois contact the Illinois Defense Council to learn the specific problems involved.

"If they do that," he said, "they will be advised how to make contact with the prime contractors and get the business they need".

Within Three Months

Green said that assurances that Illinois would be given a representative share of the defense business, possibly within three months, came from both M. Nelson, director of the Supplies, Priorities & Allocation Board, and Floyd B. Odum, director of the OPM contract distribution division.

The governor left by motorcar for Springfield.

Youth Starves to Save His Family

Monnett, Mo., Nov. 26—(AP)—There was so pitifully little to eat that George Walker Gordon, 19, wouldn't sit at the table with his parents, and seven brothers and sisters.

George died yesterday. Dr. Elburn A. Smith, Barry county physician, said he had starved himself to death that the others might live.

The family of ten lived in a one-room cabin in the Ozarks, remnant of a house partly destroyed by fire. They were discovered recently when a neighbor noticed a little girl walking to the burned bulk.

The family had hoed strawberries, picked fruit and done odd jobs. Recently the American Red Cross paid union initiation fees for George and his father, J. W. Gordon, 52, so he could work for jobs at Camp Crowder. George wasn't able to stand heavy work. He collapsed on his way home two weeks ago, carrying home what groceries he had been able to buy with his meager pay.

Dr. Smith was called three days later. George was beyond saving, a victim, Dr. Smith said, of pellagra.

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Telegraph Special Service)

Herr Hitler's camp would appear from Nazi and fascist newspaper comment to be as much exercised over the American occupation of Dutch Guiana as any other recent development—and taking the long view of the war situation, perhaps the wisemen of the axis are right.

No clearer indication of the powerful moral effect of this move could be had than has been evidenced in the angry outburst of the German and Italian press. That moral effect, which reaches round the world and touches not only the axis and its supporters but their enemies, would seem to be more important at this juncture than the military consideration.

We have a striking demonstration of the determination of the United States to protect not only its own interests but those of other nations in this hemisphere. We also have a display of Pan-American cooperation in Brazil's quick approval, and that's of vast importance to the outcome of the war.

The general effect must be to impress all nations with the idea that Uncle Sam means business. One would expect it to encourage Pan-American solidarity, to raise the morale of the allies and their friends, and to provide food for reflection among those nations like Turkey which are trying to tread a straight path of neutrality.

This sending of Yankee troops into Surinam might even have a salutary effect on the American-Japanese crisis. By an association of ideas Tokyo will be unable to escape the thought that Dutch Guiana is a sister colony of the Dutch East Indies, which figure so prominently in the Far Eastern imbroglio.

Last but far from least—and most likely is what worries Hitler most—the American move is calculated to have a restraining influence on the Vichy government which just now is under heavy pressure to make more concessions to Germany. Among the things which the führer desires most is use of French colonies for military and submarine bases, and the occupation of Dutch Guiana next door to French Guiana is bound to make the French government

Licensing Clause in Proposed Price Control Attacked

Foes Seek to Recommit Bill to Committee; Henderson Hit

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—House Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts said after a conference of the Republican membership today that a strong effort would be made to send the price-control bill back to the banking committee if a licensing provision were restored.

A few minutes later, on the house floor, two Democrats—Reps. Cox of Georgia and Dies of Texas—took the floor and urged that the measure be recommitted.

Cox forecast that the substitute "over-all" price control bill proposed by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) would be defeated as well as an effort to restore the licensing provision of the selective control bill approved by the banking committee. Such action, he said, would warrant sending the legislation back to the committee "and then

Freight Handlers Strike Is Ended

Chicago, Nov. 26—(AP)—A two day strike of 2,500 A. F. L. freight handlers, which resulted in the piling up of merchandise on loading platforms in Chicago, was at an end today with workers ordered to report back to work.

The union and trucking operators reached an agreement late last night under which the men will receive 67½ cents an hour compared with 55 cents provided for in the former contract. The union had asked for 75 cents an hour.

Under the new contract, which will run for two years, the men will also receive time and a half for all work over 54 hours a week and time and a half for all time over ten hours a day, as well as a closed shop which will be retroactive to Nov. 16 when the old contract expired.

The striking union was the dock workers section of the highway drivers union, a local of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The union's demand for a week's vacation with pay was waived, but workmen were granted double time for all holiday work and freedom from work on Labor Day.

Man Who Never Slept Celebrates Ninetieth Birthday Philosophizing

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 26—(AP)—Albert Edmearle Herpin, who's known in these parts as the man who never slept a wink, celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary today by putting out ash barrels for well-to-do customers and philosophizing over a pan of tea brewed in his shack across the railroad tracks.

Old Al, a little slow to answer a caller's lusty shouts and battering on the wooden stockade around his grotesque tin-and-dwood abode, immediately sensed suspicion.

"Course I wasn't asleep," he protested through his walrus mustache. "You know I can't sleep. Or maybe you don't. Some people think I'm a humbug. They don't believe it. And I can't blame 'em."

Dr. Smith was called three days later. George was beyond saying, a victim, Dr. Smith said, of pellagra.

"Doctors from all over the world examined my case, and they ought to know. But they couldn't explain it."

Al, who has no bed, says he gets his rest by relaxing in a chair and by reading.

Folks who live nearby swear by all the prophets that he's never slept, that all tales about him are true.

Al, born in 1851, attributes his condition to injuries his mother suffered in an accident just before his birth. Spurning offers to appear in freak shows or on the radio, he says he promised his mother he never would capitalize on his affliction.

A confirmed teetotaler, Al consumes two pounds of tea a week. "Show me where liquor's any good, and I'll drink it," he says.

In good health, and mentally alert, Al proclaims he has no kicks because the rain comes through the roof and the wind blows through holes in the walls.

Some Crewmen of Destroyer Killed by Depth Charge

Survivors From Reuben James Tell of Death of Companions

(Note: The Associated Press obtained the following story Monday but was requested by John E. Casper, the Third Naval District public relations officer not to distribute it. His request, he said, was occasioned by fear that the story might contain information of a nature that the naval department has requested be not published.)

(Today naval officials in Washington said that the navy did not object to publication of statements by survivors that some members of their crew were killed by the ship's own depth charges. The navy said, however, that it had no official evidence that any deaths resulted from the depth charge explosions.)

New York, Nov. 26—(AP)—An undetermined number of the 100 men who perished on the torpedoed American destroyer Reuben James died from the explosions of the ship's own depth charges while threshing around in icy waters on the night of Oct. 31, survivors say.

These men were blown to bits as they clung to flimsy life rafts in the darkness, their own explosives going off below them.

Survivors related that the depth charges (metal cans filled with high explosives and designed to rip open the hulls of submarines) had been set to explode at 50 and 100 feet depths and that at least two went off when the sinking hull reached those levels. They said a safety catch on the charges had not been locked because the ship was in dangerous waters near Iceland.

Some survivors said that 30 to 60 lives might have been saved had the men been in lifeboats. They said the ship carried only two boats and that they were damaged by the torpedo and magazine explosion. Three life rafts were thrown into the water and the men leaped into the sea after them.

And then, said the Chronicle, Miss Bowen read in the newspapers that Dr. Torrance had been charged in Mexico with bludgeoning his bride to death, a tragedy he sought to explain as an accident in which she was fatally injured when her head struck the rear view mirror of their auto as she swerved to avoid striking an animal on the highway.

British Middle East headquarters said the Germans had rushed up reinforcements to Rezegh and that big battle was expected there momentarily.

A Cairo bulletin reported that the British Tobruk garrison had smashed deeper into axis siege lines and declared that strong British tank reinforcements, previously held in reserve, were now moving into the forward battle zones to bolster other imperial armored columns which had been reorganizing for a new attack in the Rezegh area.

Other dispatches indicated that the British expected a lengthy struggle.

British Hopes Set Back

As the battle raged into its ninth day, even British reports reflected a sharp setback to earlier hopes for a lightning sweep to knock the axis out of North Africa.

On the Russo-German war front, the Russians admitted serious new German gains on the northern and southern flanks of Moscow's defense arc, but declared that Red army counter-attacks in the Ukraine had thrown the Nazis back six more miles northwest of Rostov-on-Don, in the sector where the Germans had already lost from 37 to 60 miles.

The Vichy (French) radio, quoting "German front reports", said Nazi mechanized forces had slashed through Red army defenses to a point within less than 16 miles of Moscow—the closest approach to the Soviet capital since Adolf Hitler started his huge-scale drive against Moscow on Oct. 2.

The radio said German spearheads had broken through southeast of Klin, 50 miles northwest of Moscow.

Amboy Crossing Ordered Opened

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 26—Petition of the city of Amboy, Lee county, that its Main street crossing with eleven tracks of the Illinois Central railroad in the heart of the city be opened to traffic was granted today by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The commission further ordered that present grade crossings of the railroad with John and Central streets west of the Main street crossing are to be closed to traffic but that the present Division street crossing is to remain open.

The railroad tracks divide the residential portion of Amboy about midway, but the business section of the city, including the fire department, is east of the tracks, lying chiefly along Main street. Opening of the new crossing will eliminate 980 feet from the run the fire engines must make to reach the west part of the city.

The city is to pay $3,500 toward the cost of completing the new crossing and agrees that the Main street crossing is to remain closed during the time consumed in switching of trains.

Alleged Uxoricide Jilted Honolulu Girl, Paper Says

Monterrey, Mexico, Nov. 26—(AP)—A decision by Judge Jesus B. Santos appeared near today on the guilt or innocence of Arthur Torrance, accused of fatally beating his wealthy bride, the former Mrs. Ada G. Loveland, for financial gain.

Torrance had not been contacted for possible comment on a San Francisco Chronicle story saying it had learned 28-year-old Barbara Bowen sailed from Honolulu expecting to marry him the day Mrs. Torrance died in Mexico. The Chronicle published this account of an alleged romantic attachment between the blue-eyed young Honolulu woman and Dr. Torrance, 55, world traveler:

Chronicle's Account

Dr. Torrance met Miss Bowen on a recent visit to Honolulu.

Torrance wooed the girl and won her consent to marriage, but then came back to the mainland where he became enamored of Mrs. Ada Loveland, a widow from Kalamazoo, Mich., and married her.

Unaware of what had happened, these men were blown to bits as they clung to flimsy life rafts in the darkness, their own explosives going off below them.

Survivors related that the depth charges (metal cans filled with high explosives and designed to rip open the hulls of submarines) had been set to explode at 50 and 100 feet depths and that at least two went off when the sinking hull reached those levels. U. S. Outstripping Great Britain in Turning Out Tanks

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—The United States, a defense official asserted today, already has outstripped Great Britain in the race of tank production.

Moreover, military sources said, at least half of the tanks that roll off American assembly lines are being rushed to far-flung battle lines under the lease-lend program, for service against the axis.

These reports were coupled with the disclosure that production schedules envisioning 33,000 light and medium tanks annually have been suggested as part of a proposed "victory program".

A big share of existing tank production has gone to Britain, but undisclosed quantities also have been shipped to Russia.

No Figures Given

Because of military considerations, no figures were given to support the claim that American tank production has now passed England's, but an official in the Office of Production Management reported today that the output here in November was running 30 per cent higher than estimates made in early summer.

The so-called "victory" program, still in the formative stage but reportedly calling for doubling the present $61,000,000,000 defense effort, lays heavy emphasis on medium and light tanks.

The fast, heavily armed 30-ton medium tanks would be built at the rate of 2,000 a month under the victory schedule, an OPM source said, and 18-ton light tanks at 800 a month.

Thus the ultimate production goal of the tentative program would be 33,000 tanks a year, as compared with the present objectives, which call for 1,000 medium and 400 light tanks monthly.

Recent reports indicated that delivery of light tanks already had reached the 300-a-month mark.

A Thought For Today

One thing thou lackest: go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come, take up thy cross, and follow me.—Mark 10:21.

Gentle to others, to himself severe.—Rogers.

Progress in All Directions

In spite of all the efforts of science, no specific chemical cure has as yet been discovered for tuberculosis. While effective agents have been found by means of which the wily streptococcus, the mortal pneumococcus and the mean gonococcus can be either checked or destroyed, the tubercle bacillus remains apparently impregnable to all blitzkrieg agents of immunological and chemical warfare.

The most effective weapon against this stubborn bug continues to be the resistance powers of the human body itself. Sometimes these are great enough that little assistance is required; again the doctor has to take advantage of every factor of the natural defense mechanism in order to reduce the virulent bacillus to a harmless inhabitant of the body.

The greatest progress which has been made in the course of the last twenty years is probably medicine's increased display of ingenuity and energy in detecting the presence of the tubercle bacillus before it has done serious damage, or even almost as soon as it penetrates the body. Tuberculin tests, which are used for this purpose quite generally now, show the presence of the bug long before its ravages can be demonstrated on an x-ray plate. Application and development of this test are due largely to the untiring efforts of Dr. Esmond R. Long and his associates.

A positive tuberculin test does not necessarily indicate active tuberculosis; it means merely that the subject was exposed at one time or another to the TB bug. More than likely it was inhaled. If the victim leads a sensible life and the infection is not too massive, it may be that the tubercle bacillus will be kept on terms of distant acquaintanceship; neglect and indiscretion can result in very unpleasant intimacy.

But even if the infection gets a foothold in the lung, the victim is by no means doomed. If discovered early, a few months of rest in a sanatorium under competent medical supervision may be all that is necessary to amplify body resistance sufficiently to overcome the infection. Should the destruction of the lung go so far as a cavity forms,

THE STORY Pretty, sexy Diana Tucker's father has given his consent to her marrying Stephen Curt, famous writer and commentator, even though he knew that there is a ten-year marriage that will pay Diana $10,000—her recompence for saving for Stephen a $2,000,000 inheritance. He said if he does not marry her, she can't be his. Diana accepted the offer for two reasons: Stephen has told her the woman he loves is married to another man, she doesn't want to go back to the farm and marry a hooded sweetheart Bill Jackson, and has lost her job in a law office in the city because she resisted the advances of Mr. Thomas, her employer. Too, she likes Stephen's stepmother, Ellen Curt. A temporary six-months' marriage—how will it work out for the beautiful, exciting young girl?

DIANA MEETS PHIL

CHAPTER VIII TWO days later Diana and Stephen were married. They had planned it all on the trip back up to the city. He insisted on taking her to the Clarendon, rather than back to her rooming house.

"You'll be more comfortable," he said. He gave her a generous check "for expenses" and said, "We'll call it an advance if you like," when Diana protested.

She had never had so much money of her own in her life. Five hundred dollars! She would have laughed if she'd known that Stephen feared it might not be enough, but was diffident about offering her more. The hotel room with its shining bath was the last word in luxury. She put herself in the hands of the hotel beauty experts and emerged with her red-gold hair done in a new, slightly more sophisticated manner as would be becoming to the wife of Stephen Curt. A pompadour in front with soft curly behind in the Gibson girl manner. Then she went shopping for a wedding outfit.

She finally decided on a Come blue coat in needle-point fabric, very slim and elegant, with a full-length banding of tipped skunk. A simple blue shirt-waist frock, beautiful accessories in a deeper blue. The kind of things she had always longed to buy. She also found a black dress in sheer woolen with a softly draped, criss-crossing bodice. Filmy underwear, hose and cosmetics.

On their wedding morning a bleak wind blew steadily and sudden flurries of wet snow fell at intervals. Dressing, Diana reflected that if the old saying "happily the bride the sun shines on" were true, there were indeed stormy days ahead for her and Stephen Curt.

She knew she looked dashing beautiful in her new outfit and that helped. She wished suddenly for her mother and father, but it had been agreed to keep the wedding quiet. Stephen was not even bringing his sister, Adela, and old Ellen Curt was not coming. Stephen had asked a friend—one whom he could trust.

They were waiting for her in the lobby when she went down—Stephen and his friend, Philip Bruce. They'd been boyhood chums, college mates and were closer than brothers.

DIANA wondered what she was going to think of Phil Bruce, for he was looking into her eyes with a strange intensity. He wasn't quite as tall as Stephen, but so straight that he gave the appearance of height. Broad shoulders, slim waist, unruly brown hair, laughing brown eyes.

They whisked her out to a taxi and soon reached the city hall. Stephen had made all arrangements and Judge Cavendish was waiting for them, but Phil dashed away and they had to wait for him. He came presently carrying a small florist's box.

"I had to see the bride before I knew what flowers to buy," he said.

"Damn!" said Stephen crossly. "I never even thought of it. Forgive me, Diana."

"Oh, well, you've never been married before," said Phil airily, throwing tissue paper right and left. "Now at my last wedding—" he broke off, having brought into view a tiny, adorable, old-fashioned bouquet, lace trimmed.

Roses and valley lilies and mimosa. Sentimental and silly and very lovely. Like a dear, remembered valentine from childhood.

"Nothing garish or flamboyant for you, darling," he said, "something sweet and dainty and lovable!" His brown eyes met hers as he placed the flowers in her hands. She thanked him, a lump in her throat which she strove valiantly to swallow.

"Well, let's get going," said Stephen a little brusquely.

The ceremony was simple and soon over. Diana, listening to those matchlessly beautiful words, trembled a little. People should be punished for making a mockery of them. Would she be punished?

HE was in love with another woman. He wouldn't mind having Diana about, they'd be friends, but he wouldn't feel badly mation, the battle is still far from being lost. There is more than one way to tackle conditions which a few score years ago presented a hopeless problem.

Interesting as it is to the doctor to find cures for the disease, of greater importance to humanity is its prevention by all possible means. The inspection of tuberculous cows has eliminated milk as a serious source of infection. The yearly expansion of sanatorium accommodations makes possible the removal from circulation of increasing numbers of detectable tuberculous persons, thus not only rehabilitating the sick but limiting spread of disease. Examination of children through schools and clinics, as this practice becomes more general, not only results in the problem becoming more and more that of dealing with mild cases, but is an important precautionary measure for isolating.

In short, progress is cumulative and satisfactory in all directions, as is proven by the fact that since 1928 the tuberculous mortality has been reduced by almost half in the civilized countries of the world.

Christmas Seal Campaigns provide the necessary funds for the coordination of this vital work. Were we to lose the enthusiasm for it, the hard work which is ahead could hardly be effective.

Please Pass the Catch-Up

Five years ago, C. I. O. organizers were being greeted at Henry Ford's River Rouge plants with fists and brickbats. Today three of the leading C. I. O. organizers have been invited guests of Henry Ford at luncheon.

Henry Ford seems to have gone all the way. Once reaching the decision to accede to union organization of his plant, after an election showed that an overwhelming majority of his employees wanted it, Ford appears to have carried out his end of the deal. But there have been numerous slowdowns, sitdowns and slowdowns at the Ford plant since the contract was signed, grave enough to cause C. I. O. President Murray to caution his men to abandon such tactics and carry out their end of the contract.

Thus whatever honey may be served at the Ford-C. I. O. love feast, it looks as though the food may also be liberally seasoned with catch-up. It is not merely necessary to reach agreements in industrial disputes; it is also necessary to abide by them.

Five Warships in a Week

The U. S. Naval building program was begun, fortunately, before the general defense program was launched shortly after the fall of France.

The reward of that foresight is now being reaped. Five warships, destroyers and submarines, all from three to five months ahead of schedule, are taking the water in a single week, including the launching of the battleship Indiana.

Two-ocean naval protection on the scale planned is still along way ahead, but the United States now has unquestionably the greatest navy in the world. True it is not perhaps the greatest considering the divided tasks it faces in Atlantic and Pacific, yet the speed with which new ships are being launched gives good hope that the goal will be achieved considerably ahead of the time set. It can't be too soon.

Women who really know how to raise children are kept to busy to tell.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Nov. 26.—The story is going around that the CIO Goliath, John Lewis, received a mortal shot-wound between the eyes from young David, Phil Murray at the CIO convention. But the story is going a little too far and sounds a little too good.

Young David made quite a display of cussing in convention corners against the mighty "Gol". At a testimonial convention dinner to Murray, the name of practically everyone was mentioned by the speakers—except that of the CIO founder, Lewis. Brother "Denny" Lewis sat ostentatiously reading a newspaper during the laudatory nominating speeches for Murray on the convention floor. Daughter Katherine Lewis harbored an ambition to be treasurer. The dominant Murray forces did not let her campaign get even to the nomination stage.

CIO politics being what it is, however, don't waste a nickel betting that the Lewis-Murray feud was sufficiently genuine to forecast important consequences. The situation was simply this: John Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt's labor counselor, Sidney Hillman, were in an all-out struggle for the control of the convention. To prevent a split in CIO, the fight had been kept down inside hotel rooms and the bars. How better could this have been done, then to have the CIO president, Murray, cast himself in the roll of a mild anti-Lewis man and walk off with the convention.

Murray and Lewis probably had their hands in each other's pockets all the time. Expect no break between those old cronies.

Genuine anti-Lewis people here are growing that Lewis came off with his usual lion's share in his fight with FDR. They think the president overlooked a chance to settle finally his troubles with Lewis, and hence the big fight between them is yet to come. But they assume the arbiter, John Steelman, is a closed-shop man because he got the Lewis U. M. W. union a closed shop as conciliator in the bituminous negotiations in 1939.

What has made them doubly depressed now is the fact that the government would never impose the closed-shop in captive areas and then release Arbitrator Steelman from his labor department duties as a government official to conduct the negotiations. Putting these two points together they stretch themselves into an assumption: Lewis will get his closed shop.

What they do not know is that Roosevelt personally ordered Hackensack to bring pressure to bear to give the U. M. W. a closed shop in the bituminous settlement. He is not doing so this time. An early decision is not expected.

The Reds have a sensational new light bomber, a "flying battleship" about which they have vaguely hinted in communiques. It is supposed to have impregnable armor plate perhaps a half inch thick on vital spots, making it immune to ordinary Nazi gun-fire.

The vicious strafing of Nazi ground troops and destruction of Nazi tanks by air bombing, of which you read in the communiques, is attributed to this new secret ship. Not one has yet fallen into Nazi hands, it is claimed.

Authorities here apparently know little of the ship, except the fabulous inside tales of its accomplishments. They suspect its activity is restricted to the large sections of the front where the Nazis have few large caliber anti-aircraft guns and few fighter planes armed with one-pound cannons. Either of these weapons could sink the flying battleships, they say.

The Reds also have a new dive bomber called "Stormovik" about which they are equally uncommunicative.

I know Phil," Stephen said dryly. "He's always going off the deep end about some woman. Just keep him in his place!"

"Thanks—for the warning," she said stiffly, humiliated. Was he protecting his friend, or her?

"You needn't worry about me," she said fiercely. "I'll remember that I'm being paid for this!"

There it was—that flashing fire that had so appealed to him. Amusement tugged at the corners of his lips. Poor kid—he mustn't make it hard for her. And ruefully he admitted to himself that he had been sounding exactly like a jealous husband.

"Well, let's get going," said Stephen a little briskly.

The ceremony was simple and soon over, Diana, listening to those matchlessly beautiful words, trembled a little. People should be punished for making a mockery of them. Would she be punished?

She finally decided on a Come blue coat in needle-point fabric, very slim and elegant, with a full-length banding of tipped skunk. The decline set in with the

was speeded up by the torpedo was now a tendency toward returning to the old level of recruiting 10,000 to 11,000 men per month. That rate is still about

2,000 to 3,000 men a month short of the navy's actual needs. Rear

Admiral C. W. Nimitz, chief of the navy's bureau of navigation, explained in Knox's press confer-possible that at some future date

the navy might have to use selec-

Knox said that the decline in that parents were withholding

Jack Grennan of Sterling College Gridman, Is Dead

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Jack Grennan of Sterling, center on the St. Ambrose (Davenport, Ia.) college football team, died yesterday in the Presbyterian hospital.

Death was attributed to pneumonia and unfavorable reaction to an operation he had undergone Oct. 21 for removal of a cystic tumor from the brain.

Grennan left the hospital Nov. 12, apparently well on the way to recovery from the operation, but a week later he re-entered the hospital and had been unconscious since that time.

The youth had complained of severe headaches during pre-season practice and was able to play only four minutes in the opening game of the season against Drake.

Twenty-One Win Major Football Awards at Dixon High

WEIDMAN AND WEAVER NAMED CO-CAPTAINS

Twenty-Two Frosh-Soph Champions Receive Minor Letters

At the end of every football season—good, bad or indifferent—they are always a few matters such as statistics, letter awards and banquets. After that the campaign is almost forgotten in the enthusiasm for approaching basketball.

Tomorrow night the Gyro club will entertain the major lettermen of Dixon high school's 1941 squad when Jimmy Conzelman does the after-dinner speaking and as a prelude to that event comes the announcement today of the season's letter winners.

Twenty-one players, 11 seniors and 10 juniors, have won major letters this year and the other night they met to elect honorary co-captains for the past season. Those chosen were Cliff Weidman and John Weaver.

The 21 major lettermen of Coach C. B. Lindell's 1941 varsity are: Seniors: Robert Collins, Dwight Fulmer, Lloyd Gilbert, Joe Hink, Paul Hoeman, Kenneth Potts, Cyril Shank, Dan Shiaras, Jo Van Meter, John Weaver and Cliff Weidman. Juniors: Donald Edwards, Floyd Egler, William Evans, Robert Hess, Raymond Joynt, Walter Knack, John Loftus, Sostant Pierre, Robert Quilhot, and Carl Schnake.

In the season this year the Dukes won two and lost five games with Quilhot as top scorer with 24 points. Weaver made two and Loftus made 12. These added to two points for a safety completed the Dixon total of 40 points in seven games.

Minor Lettermen

The sophomore team, coached by Marvin Winger won the championship of their division of the North Central conference with an undefeated season. Their only loss in the campaign was a non-conference game with East Rockford.

The twenty-two minor lettermen are: Don Bowers, Bill Cooper, Robert Cramer, Lewis Drummond, Don Fish, Dale Frey, Junior Gardner, Bill Goff, Robert Marshall, Ed Osowski, Phil Reilly, John Waiters, Bob Whiting, Neil Denison, Bob Alexander, Roger Bivens, Clyde Cooley, Jack Hanson, Fred Meinke, Loren Wilson, John Woodruff and Douglas Lloyd.

Varsity and frosh-soph managers to receive special awards are George Haberer, Kenneth Johnson, George Weigle and Robert Woodworth.

DeCorrevont Takes Rap at Waldorf's Football System

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Bill De Correvont, declaring scholastic and social benefits he gained at Northwestern "will outlast any football memories," has signed off his collegiate football career with many regrets."

They were aired last night in an interview with Commentator Bob Elson broadcast by WGN.

Probably the most publicized grid player to enter college, the star halfback, a senior now, took with Coach Lynn Waldorf's system and expressed regret that his "full football possibilities were not brought out."

He said he came to Northwestern first for an education and second to play football, but that the scholastic and social benefits would "outlast any football memories I may have left at Northwestern."

From Oklahoma City, however, Waldorf said De Correvont was just a little misguided in his public relations. The kid's all right. Don't get him wrong. He may have had a little bad advice or been egged on."

Was High School Flash

De Correvont, who scored 211 points in his last year at Chicago's Austin high school and whose choice of a college attracted nationwide attention, had said "the fact I wasn't an All-American isn't the reason I have closed my college football with many regrets." He added:

"I had read and been told that flexibility was a definite mark of Waldorf coached teams—that he built his offense according to the material, not to any groove style. This fact seemed to further my own chances of making good in college football, but I was wrong."

It was the second time that a De Correvont-Waldorf issue was aired. The first, after De Correvont's sophomore season, came in a radio report that De Correvont had given Northwestern authorizations the choice of getting a new coach or a new De Correvont.

The two principals declared they never had heard of such a thing, but it was reported later that De Correvont had attempted to transfer to Southern California.

Just when Jim Hey's table tennis talents were beginning to look like perfection, his 32-game winning streak came to a halt last night when he lost his first game in a match with Lyle Melvin. However, he recovered in the remaining games of the evening and now holds a record of 40 wins against a single defeat in the individual standings of the Dixon Table Tennis League.

Close behind Hey in the standings are Eustace Shaw who has won 50 of 56 games and Russell Brown who has won 51 of 58.

In the three-shift session at the Coverts club last night the Coverts won 21 of 33 games with Hey and now the current leaders have a comfortable margin with only about 96 games left in the first round of play.

For the Coverts last night Lyle Melvin won seven of nine games. Shaw won six of eight, Don Bowers won four of six, Charles Hammill won two of six and Bob Harman won half of four.

Hey vs. Melvin

In the 8 o'clock session Plowmans and Knacks each won 18 games for a deadlock. For Plowmans Russell Brown won all eight of his matches. Bradley Moll and Lloyd Phelps each won four of ten and Joe Graff won two of eight.

For the losers: Dave Crawford won six of eight games, Danny Nielson won half of 10, Art Crom won two of eight and Phil Reilly won five and lost five.

In the nightshift session Vailes won 20 of 35 games with Myers. Leading the winners was Ben Roe who won six of seven games. Joe Hall won four of six and Graydon Moll won two of six.

For the losers: Dave Crawford won five of seven, Bob Schmitz won two of six and Ken Flatt lost six.

A change in the schedule has moved the games set for Dec. 16 up one night earlier to Monday, Dec. 15. The next two sessions will be played according to schedule.

Enriched Bread

Where only a few years ago we looked on vitamins as a passing fad, today science has proved their necessity in a balanced diet. Particularly significant discoveries have been made in this past year in relation to the Vitamin B complex.

Part of this complex vitamin, Vitamin B1, known in its pure chemical form as thiamin, is the most general deficiency in our diet today. This Vitamin promotes growth, utilizes carbohydrate foods, maintains the appetite and forestalls fatigue. A lack of it can result in heart, nervous and mental disorders. Many illnesses of these three types respond to treatment with Vitamin B1.

The richest source of this vitamin is in the wheat grain. When that grain is milled into white flour, the vitamin content is almost entirely destroyed and, although we may consume a large quantity of bread, we lose its benefits.

In what medical leaders have termed "an act of defense as basairplanes," the food industry has aeroplanes, the food industry has made its first real contribution to national defense in its production and promotion of "Enriched Bread". It is a move which should do much in the correction of a very serious national nutritional deficiency.

"Enriched Bread" is simply bread to which has been added Vitamin B1 in the proper amounts. It also contains added units of iron, important in preventing and curing anaemia, and of nicotinic acid, a lack of which is one of the chief causes of pellagra. This bread can be made with Vitamin B1 flour, known as "Enriched flour", or by the use of yeast with high vitamin and high mineral content, or by a combination of these two methods.

There are two methods of producing "enriched" flour. One way is by adding vitamins and minerals in crystalline form to regular white flour. Bread made from this flour remains white. The second method is by a special milling process which saves the recommended amounts of Vitamin B1, nicotinic acid, and iron in their regular form. This latter method is preferable, although the bread is darker.

When "Enriched Bread" is made with yeast, a yeast high in vitamin and mineral content is used instead of the ordinary variety. This is added to the bread dough in the same quantity as ordinary yeast, and at a very small extra cost.

Whole wheat bread, of course when it contains the proper amount of whole grain, contains the necessary vitamins as well. It cannot, however, come under the strict classification of an "enriched" product.

Flour is the ideal medium for carrying thiamin. First of all, the wheat germ is the natural source of thiamin. Then, too, wheat flour itself a versatile, economical, energy-yielding food which forms a large part of the diet of low income groups. Finally, in the form of bread, it is the most generally consumed of all our foods.

Two slices of "Enriched Bread" at each of the three daily meals would provide a very substantial amount of the daily B1 requirements. To fill requirements entirely with bread, however, would mean eating such an excessive amount of it, that proper amounts of other foods necessary to a balanced diet could not be eaten. In addition to bread, the diet should include milk, meat or some substitute, vegetables, fruit and butter or fortified margarine.

It is safe to say that in a comparatively short period of time, Vitamin B1 bread will take the place of the unenriched variety entirely. It is certain to the interest of every buyer to begin demanding this new bread from their grocers. There should be little or no extra cost to the consumer, and since bread is already such an important item on low-cost meals, it will be especially helpful to those who must provide an adequate diet on a limited budget.

Camp Life

(By The Associated Press) Maxwell Field, Ala.—Private C. Powell has found shaving cream is good for something besides helping get rid of one's whiskers.

With it he's solved the ancient problem of how to get into those heavy army shoes fast enough to make reveille formations. He simply applies the cream to the inside of his shoes and they slip on so fast he never misses a formation.

Camp Haan, Calif.—Soldier boys who squirm when their sweethearts get too mushy should have a warm spot in their hearts for the private who got a letter the other day in an envelope—seen by the clerks in three different stations—which read:

"From Your Darling Snooie Woogie, General Delivery, Heaven."

On the reverse side was the imprint of a pair of luscious red lips—and this:

"A kiss from me to you; please kiss here—I did".

Camp Wolters, Tex.—Christmas is here, so what?

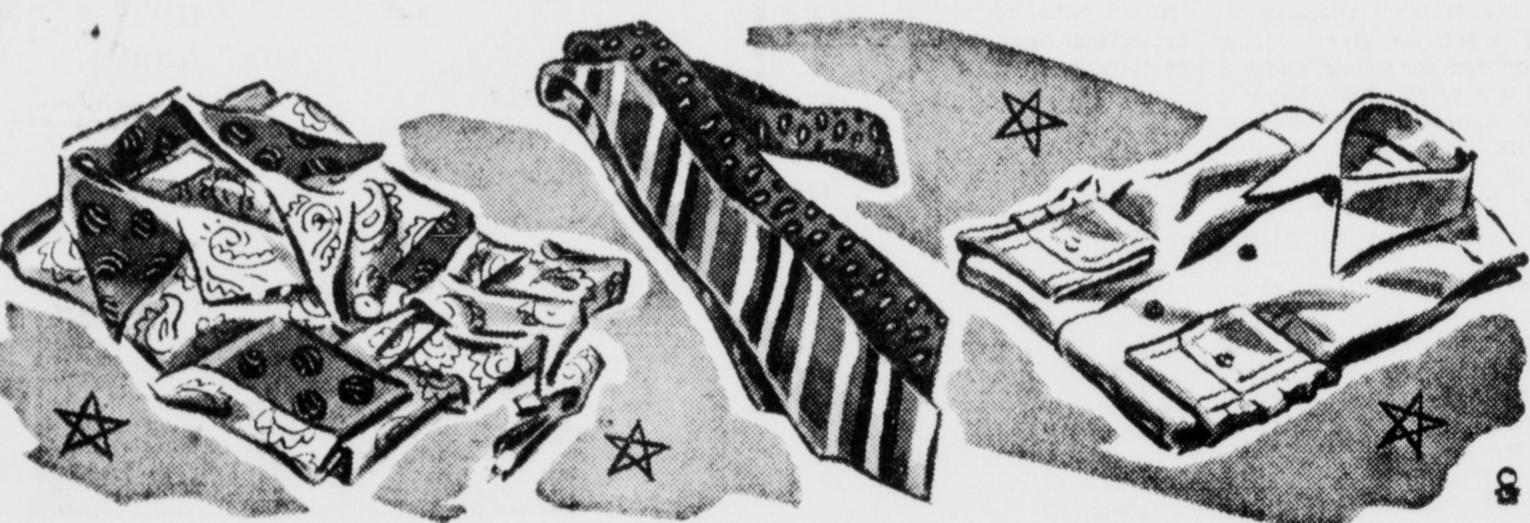

Well for one thing, Private Paul F. Christmas of Evansville, Ind., says he's getting fed up with the gag his sergeant loves to get off at reveille:

"Is Christmas present?"
He surely is.

Winter Sports Inspire New Items of Sportswear for Outdoor Men

Skiing, skating, tobogganning, and other outdoor sports are going to be more popular than ever this season, according to reliable authorities. If "Your Man" is an active sports enthusiast, then your Christmas gift problem is really simplified.

Many reasons account for this increased interest—railroads are adding bigger and easier-to-catch schedules; department stores are dramatizing skiing by fine ski shops, offering preliminary instruction to rookies and setting up ski slides; ski magazines are really getting down-to-earth information and snow trail news.

But perhaps the biggest single reason is the wealth of really functional ski clothes to fit just about any pocketbook. Ski clothes are now scientifically designed for maximum comfort and freedom of action in keeping with the warmth-without-weight demand. Featherweight, wind resistant cotton fabrics of closely woven construction are treated with "Zelan" durable repellent finish to keep the wearer dry from snow spray and spills. This fine water repellent finish makes light colors practical. Garments stay cleaner and new-looking longer. But your clothes can be tubbed or dry cleaned, depending upon their construction, as often as need be.

There are a host of styles in interesting fabrics to choose from with all the important trappings—suspender button loops, action backs, pivot sleeves, carry straps, etc. You might choose a reversible, a two-toned model, or one of the new longer-jackets. There are the convertible ones, too, with shirred elastic waists, with "skirts" which snap up for extra warmth, or down, for added hip protection. Ski skirts are also important. These slip on easily over a warm sweater or shirt and tuck into the ski trousers. Colors for men are still rather classic—tan, blues, browns, greens and natural, but nice effects are achieved by reversibles, two-toned styles and bright accessories. Quite gay knitted sweaters and mitts will be seen, and matching or contrasting poplin gloves and peak caps. Knitted head bands are good for keeping ears warm and plenty of new goggles and eyeshields are being shown.

So—pack up your troubles, snow men, and ski!

Handbags Will Make Ideal Gifts

There's a Merry Christmas "in the bag" when the giver remembers handbags for young and old.

There are plushy little bags, in muff or animal shapes, for the little miss who found pennies in the toe of her stocking, and needs a purse for her wealth. Other "little girl" delights are miniatures of grownup handbags, complete with slide fasteners, and pocket mirrors, in either fabric or leather.

For old sister, there are plaids and pigskins, wools, and wonders in smooth leathers that borrow their colors from Christmas itself—holly red and brightest green.

Grown-up gift lists, for sister, mother, aunt or sweetheart, can be checked off with a minimum of fuss and worry, at any smart handbag counter. Muff bags in fur fabric, or coating fabric trimmed with fur, are a welcome gift for most any woman. Leather bags, with multiple compartments, and a generous sprinkling of zip-pockets, are a delight to older women—particularly those who take them their budgeting seriously. And for lighter moments, the assortment of evening bags is dazzling, and quite the answer for the gift—in glitter versions of rhinestones or sequins; and lovely heirloom types in tapestry or metallic fabrics.

Employment Office to Help Soldiers Freed from Army

Announcing plans to find jobs for men released from military service, F. W. Southwick, manager of the Sterling State Employment Office, today urged all discharged selectees to register immediately at their local offices.

"Some of these men are skilled workers and can take their places at once on the production lines they have left when they entered the Army," the manager said. "They still have these skills and they are in good physical condition."

Employers needing men can get full information on this new source of labor supply by calling the Sterling office of the State Employment Service. Full military and occupational histories are available on each man, as well as detailed records of their training and experience."

Employment Experts

Announcement of the new plan to aid selectees was made by Francis B. Murphy, State Director of Labor, following Governor Green's request to place the entire resources of the Illinois State Employment Service at the disposal of agencies seeking the return of Army men to places in civilian employment.

While many men will return to their former jobs, the Director said, some positions will no longer be open, and to help these men employment experts have been appointed in every office to handle the problems of discharged draftees.

Must File Claim

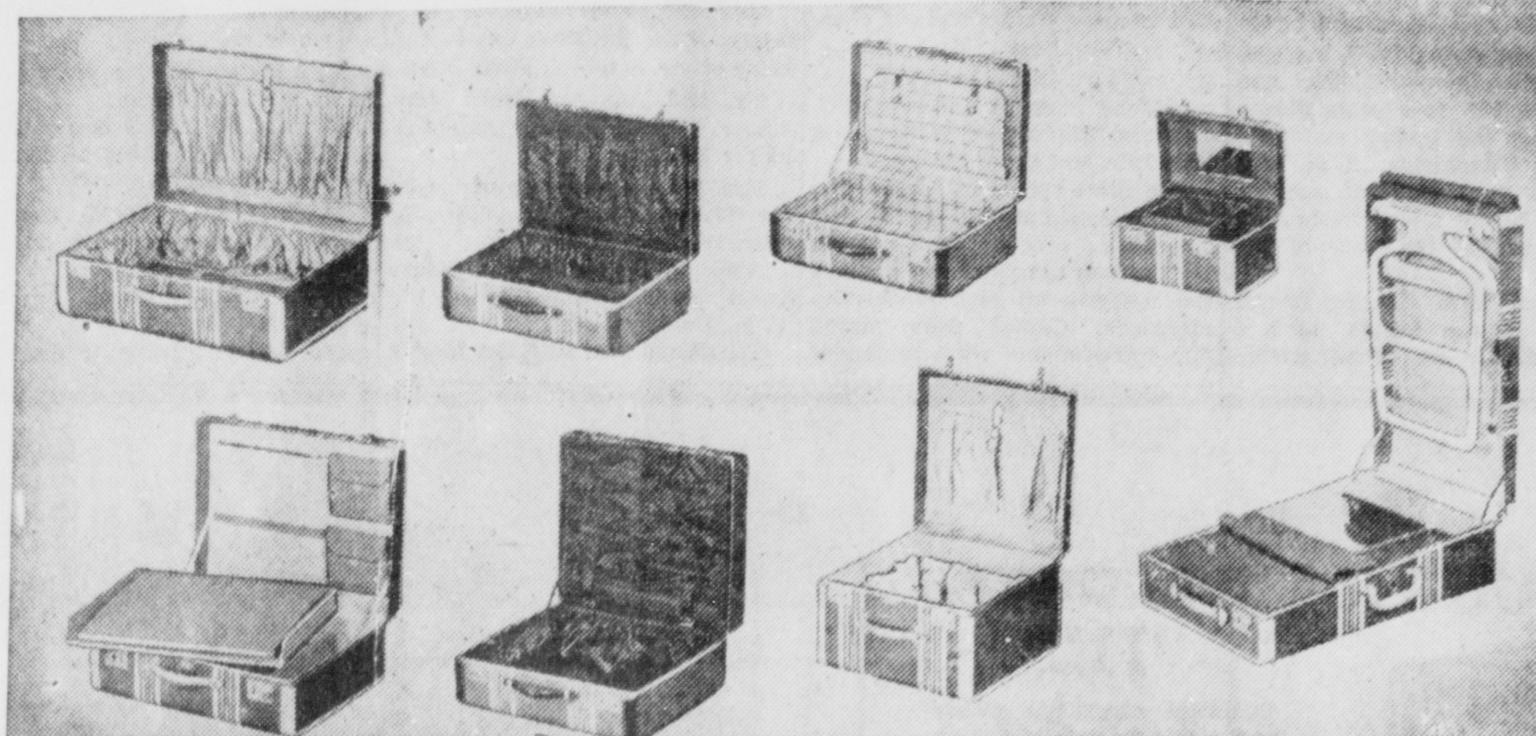

Working in the Sterling office to cooperate with Selective Service Boards and other agencies is A. F. Heindel, who will keep in constant touch with job openings throughout the State through the central office of the State Employment Service.

Many discharged selectees will be eligible for Unemployment Compensation benefits paying $18 per week for 20 weeks, or until they find work. To be eligible an individual must have earned $225 in the calendar quarter in which he was called into service and the four previous calendar quarters, in employment insured under the Illinois law.

Selectees claiming benefits must file their claims in person at the local office of the Illinois State Employment Service which serves the neighborhood in which they live.

Negligees and Housecoats Make Exciting Gifts For the Women

Negligees and housecoats make in color, and sophisticated in black. Reversible negligees make doubly-welcome gifts, and are particularly appealing in satin with pink one side, and blue on the other; or black on one side and pastel or turquoise on the other. Either way you look at it, it's a good gift idea!

Wool Housecoats Have Glamour
Warmer negligees or housecoats in sheer wools or rayon pile fabrics put glamour on a practical basis, and do an equally efficient job of flattery and warmth. Here again color scores, in white that looks like ermine, and pastels that look good enough to eat. Darker colors take on new beauty, too, in these fabrics that have depth to show them off.

Tailored robes that pinch-hit as housecoats, are also on the warm side—in flannels with cheerful colors values, and plaids with spirited gaiety. They're fitted or wrap-around, with belts or princess waistlines—and buttons or zippers to tuck you in.

So whether the gift problem be for "something luxurious," or "something practical," there's a negligee, a housecoat or a robe to solve it promptly, and with a warmth of enthusiasm!

Prices to Please All

Housecoats and hostess gowns have practically limitless gift possibilities—with prices to suit every purse. Printed cotton housecoats, in peppy patterns, are a boon to the hostess for informal entertaining, and a joy to wear in steamheated apartments. They make "just right" gifts, at modest cost.

Sumptuous fabrics, such as silks and satins, are elegant in tailored housecoats for more formal wear, and wonderful Christmas gifts to show off during holiday entertaining, to start the year right. Silks and satins with lace, beading, or even furry accents are luxury lovelies that will make wife proud of her husband (if he gives her one)—and any husband proud of his wife (when she wears it). Velvet dramatizes even the simplest housecoat, and positively glorifies the dressier types, with shirring and draperies, voluminous sleeves and perhaps just the barest suggestion of a train? The velvet versions are usually "hostess gowns"—and so they should be, for the "perfect" hostess and the perfect gift!

Housecoats and hostess gowns with bifurcated skirts are a nice compromise with lounging pajamas having the casual charm of pajamas, plus the flowing grace of skirt fullness. They're full of originality, for the "woman who has everything" and full of prestige for the giver.

They won't fit into the Christmas stocking, but negligees, housecoats or robes will fit into any Christmas list—and stocks will soar as result! And don't forget, there are robes for little brother and little sister, too—and robes for dad and big brother. Go to town with your Christmas list, and "go to town" all the way down to the very last name—with robes for all, for a robust Merry Christmas!

By George B. Anderson

An inexperienced merchant, seeking advertising advice, once said to me, "I can't afford to make mistakes with my advertising. For the best results, what should I advertise?"

My answer was trite and obvious. Maybe it sounded silly—but it happened to be the most correct answer I could give him. I said "Advertise something that a lot of people want right now."

A lot of advertising money has been less effective than it might otherwise have been because somebody didn't guess right on what a lot of people would want at a certain time.

It's perfectly true that you can sell merchandise out of season, and it's equally true that you can "hypo" slow-moving items. But if it's sure results you want, at a minimum cost per unit of sale, you'll advertise something "hot"—something you definitely know has an immediate market.

Timeliness is one of the major success elements in retail advertising. When an ad clicks, the result is usually due, in part at least, to a merchant's having been in the paper with the right suggestion at the right time.

A good advertiser advertises things that people want and use during the prevailing season. He gives ample consideration to economic conditions. If money is "tight," he advertises lower-priced items than he'd feature during a prosperous era. He watches big pay-days and keys his advertising to meet them.

He does his heaviest advertising on novelties or fad items when they're at the peak of popularity. He almost never advertises anything that hasn't had a consumer test of some kind and a few sales without advertising. If his sales force can't sell it to a few people with advertising aid, he knows that it lacks the merit which is essential to advertising success.

Costume Jewelry Is A Sparkling Gift

"For Christmas 1941 a gift of costume jewelry will have an intrinsic value as well as aesthetic value," says Charlotte, well-known stylist and designer.

"Heretofore, we have considered costume jewelry solely as an adjunct to the outfit with which it was worn. It has had fashion value—yes, but we have given little or no consideration to the material of which it was made or their actual value.

"Today, all that is changed. The glittering stones and intricately-wrought metals that we accepted so casually in the past may be the heirlooms of the future. Just as the hob-nail glass bottles and old pewter mugs "at our ancestors' studded away in New England attics have become collectors' items. Not because the particular piece of glass or pewter was so valuable at the time it was fashioned, but because its counterpart in style and workmanship cannot be procured today.

"So it is with costume jewelry.

"The war in Europe and our own mighty defense effort are resulting in scarcities and shortages of many materials. The finely-cut stones used in 'the loveliest costume jewelry are increasingly difficult to procure and certain metals may also disappear from costume jewelry counters soon. Well selected costume jewelry gives lasting enjoyment.

Gifts for Men Only

For the "Man in your life" is this Christmas gift set from Yardley containing shaving necessities and hair tonic.

Christmas Gift Towels

Handsome packaged gift towels, many of them in decorative boxes which have a reuse value as hat box, knitting box, lingerie or blanket box, are tied with velvet or satin ribbon bows... other practical gift packages with "eye appeal" include enamelled wire baskets, wire shelves that may be used later in the bathroom and wooden "treasure" chests.

These all have more lasting appeal than ordinary Christmas holly boxes and are extensively stocked in all stores.

Towels themselves are keyed to the current trend for simplicity in design... contrasting styles, floral designs, novelty weaves in pastel colors and high shades, monotones and two tone combination.

Monogrammed towels are a delight to the recipient. "Mr." and "Mrs.", "His" and "Hers" are fun to give. Complete sets include floor mat, seat cover and matched towels.
